

Heart Disease Kills Suddenly,

but never without fair warning. By an occasional fluttering, a perceptible palpitation, shortness of breath, etc., in many ways the victim fully notified. But his friends are ignorant and the warning is disregarded until loving associates are shocked and grieved by another sudden death.

"My wife suffered years with a heart trouble which the doctors called incurable valvular contraction of the heart. She took a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure six months ago, and has not suffered since. She sleeps well, and is like a new person altogether, and says Dr. Miles' Remedies are good to her."

A MONSTER PROPELLER

WILL BE SIXTEEN FEET "FROM TIP TO TIP OF BLADE."

A Perfect Casting—For a Steamer

Soon to Be Launched—Comparisons—90 Revolutions a Minute.

The largest steel propeller ever made is one recently made at Chester, Pa., for the new iron steamship John Englis, which will be launched the latter part of this year, says the New York Herald. This giant among propellers has four of the mightiest blades that ever churned old ocean into foam and sent a ship speeding through the waves. From tip to tip of blade this propeller measures 16 feet, and its hub where it fits on the shaft is 25 inches in diameter. The thickness of the metal at the hub is 6 inches. The casting weighed 15,000 pounds.

A remarkable fact in connection with this propeller is that it is just about twice the size of the propeller of the largest of all ships, the Great Eastern, which had not only a screw, but paddle wheels as well, to aid in forcing her in her unwieldy way across the ocean.

Some idea of the strength and power of this huge screw may be gathered from the fact that the tensile strength of the steel is 71,000 pounds, with an elongation of 27 per cent and reduction of 33 per cent. When the casting was taken from the mold there was not a single crack or flaw to be found in it, and the edges tapered as smooth and as even as gray iron.

The wheel was molded from the pattern of one blade and a quarter section of the hub, and ten days and nights of constant care and watchfulness were required to complete the molding. The propeller is made of what is known as open hearth steel, and is, for that reason, and aside from its size, a novelty.

When placed in position on the steamship John Englis, and driven at the full speed of the 4000 horse-power triple expansion engines this propeller will make ninety revolutions a minute. With this propeller it is claimed that the John Englis can make the run between New York and Portland, Me., which is to be her regular route, in four hours' less time than the steamers now on that service. The new steamer is 312 feet long, 46 feet beam and her gross tonnage is 4000 tons. The propeller was made from open hearth cast steel as an experiment, and because the steel of that process showed exceptionally high and uniform characteristics.

Those Who Use Paine's Celery Compound Get Health And Strength.

MALOTT, WASH., July 16, 1894.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO.,

DEAR SIR:—I took Paine's Celery Compound for headache and dyspepsia. I have had the headache a great deal, and tried a great many things for it, but found no relief until I began taking Paine's Celery Compound, and it helped me greatly.

Yours respectfully,

'96 Remingtons

"AS GOOD A WHEEL AS THE REMINGTON" is a string upon which many would-be rival manufacturers are fond of harping. The chord falls flat, however, on the ear of the intelligent buyer. He knows that he takes no chances in getting the acknowledged Standard of Merit in machines of this kind.

Don't Get Rattled

Into the idea that the best bicycles are those which are painted in the loudest colors. Paint is but skin deep. The color of a bicycle has nothing to do with its "true inwardness." Remington Cycles are ridden by thousands of people who know what constitutes a good bicycle—a bicycle of superior running qualities, finest material, and which will stand most service. Remington Bicycles are Honest Bicycles, finished in the most substantial enamel. The beauty and cleanliness of outline and finish upon Remington's is only equaled by the perfect satisfaction derived from their use.

THEY STAND THE TEST

CLEVELAND TANDDEM No. 25.

Before buying a Bicycle said to be "just as good as a Cleveland," it is well to compare the prices at which the machines will sell second-hand. The second-hand price of a Cleveland often exceeds the new price of "the just as good." If you look a year ahead there is wise economy in CLEVELANDS at $75 and $100.
